2.1 Member qualifications

A person qualifies for membership of the co-operative if the person:

- genuinely supports the expansion of regenerative agricultural practices with a focus on holistic approaches to improve ecological function in our landscapes,
- gives preferential supply, where reasonably practicable and in the member's interest, to market partners approved by the co-operative, and
- is able to use or contribute to the services of the co-operative.

1.3A Primary activities

The primary activities of the co-operative are:

1. Provide services for the ecological monitoring and regeneration of agricultural land.
2. Promotion of produce from land where ecological monitoring and regenerative agriculture is taking place, particularly through development, control and marketing of a recognisable brand.

1.3B Active membership

In order to establish and maintain active membership of the co-operative a member must:

1. If they own or manage land used for primary production (including at multiple locations), ensure that ecological monitoring is conducted on all portions of this land every financial year according to the procedures approved by a general meeting of the co-operative; and
2. Participate in the ecological monitoring program approved by a general meeting of the co-operative through making themselves available for a minimum of 16 hours per financial year in support of ecological monitoring activities (including the submission of monitoring data collected to the co-operative) for land managed by other member/s of the co-operative, so that their availability is recorded in the register maintained by the co-operative, and
3. Complete an annual survey issued by the co-operative including the collection of information on supply of produce to market partners of the co-operative.
